MR. BORAH SEES CHAOS.
A NATION ON WHEELS
—CHAMPION CORN HUSKER.

By Arthur Brisbane

Senator Borah, regretting the defeat of his "very dear friend, Mrs. McCormick" in Illinois, thinks parties are losing their hold, expects "chaos in 1932," and thinks the recent election showed a drift from prohibition.

He is still a faithful dry, but says the question to be settled now is not one of modification or right wines and beer, but a question of repealing the amendment.

W. C. T. U. ladies, meeting at Austin, Texas, have no misgivings about prohibition's future. Their meeting broke up in a frenzy of joy, when they heard that the Wickersham-Heaver prohibition commission would reject any suggestion of repeal and reject even four per cent beer.

The Wickersham commission does not make laws, and can only talk. But the W. C. T. U. ladies rejoice with good reason. Any act of change in prohibition is probably far away. The best that we can hope for is ignoring the law, in wet cities with abundance of bootleg poison at high prices.

Experiments by Dr. Ginsberg, of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment station, show that mosquitoes in breeding places, hitherto inaccessible, can be attacked and destroyed by airplane.

The pilot, flying low over the breeding swamps, spread a spray of poison powder that destroys the new mosquito before it starts flying.

The invention of railroad trains spread mosquitoes all over the United States.

The airplane invention may remedy the evil.

It should be used on the marshes around Venice, and do it, Venice, to whom we owe it, who ever has visited Venice in summer really hates mosquitoes.

This is really a nation on wheels. The number of motors actually registered in the United States is 26,500,000, and the number of licensed automobile drivers is 32,000,000, more than one for each automobile. The figures show there can be no "saturation point" on automobile construction.

If every automobile lasted five years, which it does not, because of rough usage, there would still be required more than 5,000,000 new automobiles a year.

And how long ago when Henry Ford said he expected some day to build 10,000,000 cars a year, conservative builders begged him not to talk so extravagantly as he would destroy bankers' confidence in the industry.

Have you ever husked corn on a cold day, the sun melting frozen mud between rows of cobs, stalks, a cold wind blowing through the corn field?

If not, you can't appreciate the achievement of Fred Stanek, Iowa farmer, three times in succession champion corn husker. He husked 307 bushels in 80 minutes. That isn't as profitable as working your way up to a prize fight championship. But it's more important to Thirty-five carloads of steel and 2,900 gallons of paint were used in the manufacture of the 1931 plates.

DUET IN EVANS CASE IS HELD FOR DEARBORN

Mrs. Fern Evans Admits Bigamy, Detroit Police Say

FIRST HUSBAND WASN'T DIVORCED

Woman, Brother-in-Law To Face Charge Of Home Burglary

A long series of crimes—burglaries, automobile thefts and many others, together with many escapes from police in several states and more than a score of cities—is believed by Detroit, Mich., police to have been solved with the arrest by Salem police, of Mrs. Fern Evans, 21, wife of Walter Evans of Salem, and her brother-in-law, Raymond Evans, 18, also of this city.

Held In Detroit

The couple are now being held in Detroit for Dearborn, Mich., authorities, being charged with having been connected with the burglary of a home in that city. They were arrested here last Wednesday night, questioned in Cleveland in connection with burglaries and auto thefts there, then turned over to Detroit authorities.

Mrs. Evans, alias Fern Barberie, alias Fern Bolton, confessed, Detroit police say, that she sat in an automobile in Dearborn while the Evans brothers with Bert Menees, 23, of Detroit, looted a residence there. A watch, jewelry and dresses in her possession have been identified by a Dearborn woman from whom they were stolen, the Michigan authorities declare.

Tells Of Crimes

Mrs. Evans is said, told of crimes in which her husband and brother-in-law were involved, but denied any connection with them. She also told of the theft of a car in Cleveland and a three-months' tour through the middlewest and southwest in various stolen automobiles.

Mrs. Evans confessed, Detroit police add, to being a bigamist, asserting that she married Walter Evans six months ago and later discovered that her first husband, Frank Barberie, had not divorced her.

Menees, now in Detroit jail, is said to have made a complete confession of crimes in which he, Mrs. Evans, Raymond Evans and Walter Evans were involved, according to police there. He told police of a score of robberies in several middle western states and implicated the Evans trio. Walter, he said, was the leader of the gang.

WELFARE UNITS OUTLINE PLANS

Lisbon Groups Favor Centralization Of Relief Operations; Committee To Be Named

LISBON, Nov. 17.—Community welfare work in the Lisbon district during the winter period is expected to be centered in one group, which plan eliminates the "hit and miss" program of previous years.

John J. Welsh, post No. 275, American Legion, has appointed a committee of five to co-operate with a central committee that is expected to be named soon. The Legion committee is composed of George C. Porter, chairman, Garrett Willis, Louis Binsley, Clarence Ball and Roy Richards.

Church and civic groups that worked as individual units in assisting the needy in past years are expected to join and name a community central committee to act with the Legion committee. By this scheme, it is proposed to eliminate the "double assistance" that has heretofore prevailed.

FIRE FIGHTERS SAVE DWELLING

Autos Choke Highways, Resulting In Two-Hour Traffic Snarl

(By Brush Moore Leased Wire)

HOMEWORTH, Nov. 17.—Fire of undetermined origin Saturday night destroyed a large barn on the farm of William Burkhardt, two miles northeast of here, causing damage estimated at $7,000.

The barn contained 40 tons of hay, 15 tons of straw, several head of cattle and some farm machinery. Fire fighters, concentrating their efforts on preserving the home, were unable to save any of the barn's contents.

The fire, which was discovered by Mrs. Burkhardt shortly after 8 p. m., attracted motorists from Salem, Louisville and other points. A traffic snarl developed which took more than two hours to unravel. Hundreds of automobiles choked both sides of roads leading to the farm for more than a mile.

Mrs. Burkhardt was alone on the farm when the fire broke out. In addition to the home, the fire department saved a large, well-filled corn crib near the barn.

THE BUSINESS OF GIVING AWAY

A few weeks ago Harry Payne Whitney financier and sportsman, died. He left an estate of $100,000,000.

A few days ago Samuel Mather, financier and philanthropist, told a newspaper reporter in Cleveland that he considered it his personal duty to help build a special fund of three-quarters of a million for charity work in his city. Mr. Mather's generosity is axiomatic; he is the patron saint of Cleveland charity.

The average man, who has neither a vast fortune nor the prospects of amassing one, takes it for granted that millionaires will be liberal donors to worthy causes. In his more ambitious moments he may even dream about what he would do if he had a million to bestow.

But the business of giving away a private fortune is a bigger problem than it may appear to be in remote prospect. In the first place, it is assumed that the man or woman with money to give away will attempt to bestow it where it will do a social good. There is little resemblance to the old system of giving alms, or selecting an individual beneficiary. The modern way is to create a fund or a foundation from which any deserving person or cause may receive help. A billion dollars or more of American capital, is stowed away thus for various purposes.

And its uses? In order of the number of their endowments, an Ernst and Ernst report lists: Education, scientific research, child welfare, health, social welfare, international relations, art, music, and other aesthetic matters, industry and business, government, agriculture, genetics and eugenics, religion, legal aid, publishing, engineering, aviation, birth control, civil liberties, labor unions, heroism in life saving, public service, religious motion pictures and strike relief. It is significant that only a small portion of the assistance which great fortunes offer to causes not supported by the ordinary processes of profit-seeking business is directed toward economic research. This may be traceable partly to the fact that when several million dollars are amassed by reason of a successful business there is little inclination to dedicate them to the purpose of making business more profitable.

Aside from their importance to progress, the existence of numbers of sizeable funds and foundations constitutes perhaps the liveliest force possible to proponents of that social theory which would discourage private enterprise, holding instead that the state should control all excess funds.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Diary of a modern Peppy. Up to walk, stopping to chat a moment with the barrister Nathan Burkan, who has one of the brightest minds I know, and to a tailor and did on a great coat, a displacing job, too. Then to Welfare Island with Floyd Gibbons.

All afternoon alone, my wife and mother-in-law going to a matinee, and came two heavy blankets from Canada, the gift of the Courtney Riley Coopers, not can I hardly wait for a blizzard. So off in hotspur haste to the theatre to walk across town in the lovely dusk with my family.

Tommy Millard to dinner and Earl Carroll dropped in for desert and we drove to Minsky's burlesk for a brief stay where ladies, spare the blushes, disported naked and then driving through Chinatown. Later to the New Amsterdam to see the finale of Earl's show from the wings.

Performers seem never to tire of watching fellow players during a performance. There are always peepers, occupying waiting time, getting an eyeful from the sidelines. And often they applaud with the gusto of the audience.

No place does one feel so in the way as a layman back stage at a theatrical performance. I found myself standing in a sandbox and again I reached out in the gloom to support myself against what I thought was a piece of scenery. It was a lady's bare shoulder. Finally in tip-toeing to a back exit, I yanked a strand of wire that blew out a fuse with a splutter. And a girl shrieked, "Jeez!"

Stage managers, directors and producers have a code by which they may discuss a chorus girl applicant's charms or lack of them without embarrassing the lady. Thus if a stage manager says: "I am tiling this lady as 03871-B" it may mean her complexion is bad, figure just so-so, legs bowed, without personality, etc.

In a high priced revue, a fellow in flesh tights, giving appearance of being nude, and wearing a silk hat ambles into an upper box. After gasps die down, he explains: "I had to hook my clothes to buy a ticket."

And a novel last night inspired a roll-out of bed whoop. A taxi driver was calming a nervous fare who begged him to slow down. "I ain't killed a guy in three months," he comforted. "Then it was his fault. He was drunker than me."

Personal nomination for the most gracious smile in town—that of Mrs. Joseph A. Moore.

Automats provide lemonade, free to ingeniously thrifty. One may pick up several glasses from the ice tea counter containing cracked ice and lemon slices. Squeeze out the lemons into one glass. Water, sugar and spoons are free and if they catch you, blame me. Automats are among the few institutions I don't owe a penny.

Why I prefer the news-reels: Shipwreck Kelly is shown about to unroost from his winning long distance flag pole sitting. He announces: "I am about to come down as physical as I went up."

Fifth avenue has two yards. These near Washington Square have been absorbed by apartment skyscrapers. The largest remaining surrounds the Andrew Carnegie home, a jangle of verdure enclosed by a high iron fence. The other fronts the home of the son of Thomas Fortune Ryan at 76th street. It is valued at $2,000,000.

All of which is received with lachrymose sentimentality by those brought up to believe a home is not a home without a front and back yard. But there is a hint in the fact a plant near Jersey City turning out iron deer, dogs and other bibelots for lawns is carrying on.

And Chas. M. Schwab's Riverside lawn still has the iron cast of the puddler.

From a news item: For ten days a dapper fellow who wore a rose in his lapel and kept taking a handkerchief from his cuff nervously to wipe his forehead, stood opposite my home. Finally I decided to go to the police.

He was just going to chase you, silly!

The Stars Say —

For Tuesday, Nov. 18

A day of pleasant and prosperous conditions is the augury based on the interesting chain of lunar transits supported by the mutual configurations. These sustain and incite to robust activity with a degree of initiative impulse which should bring success in new ventures and advance and promote conditions generally. Employment is under a flourishing ray and the trade is assured medium advancement and growth. Personal interests are happily expected.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of liveliness and enterprise with affairs moving along to gratifying fulfillment. Employment, business and new ventures are all under a fortunate planetary rulership. Domestic, social, affectional and artistic association should bring happiness.

A child born on this day should be clever, versatile, courageous and enterprising in many directions. It has many avenues for attaining success through its own talents and initiative.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

"Wonderful Cures" May Be Harmful

Frequently we hear someone say "You look so pale you must be anemic." If this tactless remark ended the matter it wouldn't be so bad. But too often we hear "I have a wonderful tonic, why not try it?"

Perhaps the tonic is taken. It may be without value, but worse than this, it may be harmful.

All this is unwise. Many persons are pale and yet are physically fit. Anemia can not be determined without an examination of the blood.

Many of the so-called "tonics" and "health rejuvenators" are found upon analysis to be of little value. In many cases they are actually harmful because of the drugs they contain. Many are alleged to be rich in iron, but actually contain this element in such small amount as to be of little value.

What is meant by anemia is a condition in which there is a decrease in the quality and quantity of the red cells that are found in the blood. In addition, there is usually a decrease in the amount of "hemoglobin." Hemoglobin is the substance responsible for the coloring matter of the blood and it is a powerful aid to the absorption of oxygen by the blood.

Anemic persons usually complain of tiring easily. They have no "pep" or desire to do things. The appetite is poor, the digestion is faulty and occasionally there may be a feeling of faintness. In some severe forms there is loss of weight and difficulty in breathing. Marked pallor is usually present, but this symptom is not always indicative of anemia. That is why the advice of my friend may be wrongly founded.

Anemia may be brought about by an excessive loss of blood. This loss may be accidental or it may follow some surgical procedure. The bleeding may result from hemorrhoids or be due to a stomach ulcer.

Anemia may be caused, too, by lack of fresh air, overwork, severe nervous strain, lack of proper food and unhygienic surroundings are other important factors.

Anemia is often cured by rest, air and plenty of good nourishing food. The rest serves as the necessary tonic giving the body a chance to build up its energies. Fresh air in large doses supplies sufficient oxygen to thoroughly revive and stimulate the production of new red blood cells. Nourishing food builds up the blood cells and strengthens the body.

It happens often in anemia that the digestion is impaired. On this account it is necessary to give digestible foods. Milk and eggs are the most important in this respect and can be given inebriatingly. It is advisable to have at least one quart of milk each day. Abundant bread, toast with butter, preserved fruits and cereals with cream are strongly recommended.

If you are anemic sit down by yourself and try to figure out why. What are you doing that you should not do? What are you leaving undone?

There is no great mystery about disease. Most of our ailments can be traced to causes within our knowledge. The trouble is we think too little about these matters. Indeed we try to fool ourselves as well as the family. We are unwilling to admit anything is wrong.

Even though we make no concessions to others let us be sensible enough to study our own needs. An hour spent this way may put us on the way to perfect health.

SPARES

You wouldn't be without an extra tire on your car. Apply the same good judgment to clothes—and you will buy a suit with a "spare" pair of trousers.

And, while you're about it, you might as well buy the best—for the extra trousers are just one more advantage added to the good-looking, long-wearing fabrics, the genuine custom-quality workmanship, and the distinctive Lord Rochester styling which makes Michaels-Stern Two-Trouser suits absolutely the biggest and best values you can find.

And you'll never find a bigger or better selection of patterns and colors than we are showing right now.

Grain Group In Pit Again To Halt "Panicky Selling"

Stabilization Corporation

61 INJURED IN WARSAW RIOTS

Pilsudski's Government Party Short Of Majority Sought

(By Associated Press)
WARSAW, POLAND, Nov. 17.—Returns today from yesterday's parliamentary elections showed Marshal Pilsudski's government party running far short of the three-fourths majority in the SEJM which the "iron man" had asked of the Polish electorate.

The government party secured 247 seats against 118 they held in the old parliament. The national Democrats had 78, the Centre-Radical, bitter opposition group, 32; the Jews 7; the Korybutys, 21; Communists and Germans 5; Ukrainians 62; and Silesian Socialists, 1.

Sixty one persons were injured in election disorders in Warsaw and disturbances were noted in many localities.

Five of the casualties represented serious injuries. The disorders principally were scuffles between Communists, government adherents and laborites with Zionists and Orthodox Jews in their crowded quarters and battling frequently.

Sunday's election was to replace the SEJM dissolved abruptly by Premier Marshal Pilsudski last August with charged that it "Hamstrung" the government. The Premier hoped for a three quarters majority, which would allow him sufficient votes to amend the constitution so as to strengthen the president's veto power.

Milnor, general manager of the corporation, Chairman Legge of the farm board announced last night that demoralization in world grain markets had made it necessary for the corporation to again enter the market.

Defend American Farmers

For the second time since the agricultural marketing act, which authorized its creation, became law, the corporation was extending its resources in an effort to insure American farmers against world price levels pushed down by liberal offerings from surplus areas.

In its first stabilization operations, for the 1929 season, the corporation purchased something more than 60,000,000 bushels of wheat with the pledge that none of it would be sold for less than the purchase price. With this amount of the market, the corporation now has taken to the pit again—this time to prevent further declines in 1930 wheat which has sagged almost continuously since it began moving to market.

Unusually Light Receipts
Legge insisted further declines would not be justified by domestic conditions. He pointed to "unusually light" receipts at primary markets as suggestive of the extent to which farm stocks are being used for feeding purposes, and the probability that the per capita consumption of flour is increasing.

While no information was available on the extent of current operation, it was learned authoritatively that the corporation had been buying wheat on a modest scale for some little time. The announcement that it had again entered the market followed the serving of notice upon the trade by Mr. Milnor in Chicago a week ago that the corporation would take delivery on that part of its holdings represented in December futures.

These holdings, purchased to cover sales made due to expiration of storage contracts and other reasons, were estimated by Chairman Legge at 10,000,000 bushels.

BORAH ASSERTS THAT HE'LL NOT BE 'STAMPEDED'

Declares He Has Never Filibustered and Does Not Expect To

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—In blunt terms Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican independent leader, has served notice he will not be stampeded in the disposal of legislation at the coming term of congress.

Returning to the capital yesterday the Idaho senator used the term "superlative impudence" in discussing implications he saw in the administration quest for assurances from leaders of both Republicans and Democrats in congress against a filibuster to force an extra session in the spring.

"I have not heard of any such threats from the Democrats, neither have I heard of any such threats from the Progressives," he said. "I think it an exhibition of superlative impudence to be stating in effect that the Progressives or the Democrats have not just as keen a sense of responsibility and quite as intelligent conception of their duty as the regulars."

Will Not Filibuster
He added he never had filibustered and did not intend doing so now but did not propose "to be stampeded out of giving proper and necessary consideration to appropriation bills and such other important legislation as we know is now pending."

His statement immediately was interpreted here as a sign the Independents will demand full consideration for their favored measures. Among them is the Norris resolution for government operation of Muscle Shoals, which now looms a stumbling block to speedy disposition of vital appropriations. Although there has been talk of reviving the export debenture and equalization fee plans of farm relief, which have been fought by the administration.

Extra Term Unlikely
Yet, although the Republican Independents appear aroused by President Hoover's move for Democratic co-operation in averting the extra session, leaders of all groups are agreed that on the present outlook no deliberate attempt to force a special term is likely.

The Democratic chieftains have not shown any desire so far, either for an extra session or immediate assumption of power in congress. Some Republicans not among the party leaders, have suggested that if any early meeting of the new congress were forced, organization of the senate should be left to the opposition.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 17.—The National Bank of Kentucky, the oldest bank in Kentucky, was closed today by resolution of its board of directors, and placed in the hands of a national bank examiner. The Louisville Trust company, an affiliated institution, also was closed.

Presidents of other Louisville banks issued statements that their institutions were solvent. The National Bank of Kentucky, founded in 1834 as the bank of Kentucky, and capitalized at $5,000,000 in its last statement, listed total resources as $4,701,633.36 and deposits of $4,145,794.40.

All were thrown from the machine with the exception of Hilliard and Mrs. Myers who were pinned under the wreckage.

Passing motorists extricated them from the machine, called a Sebring ambulance and the injured were brought to Central Clinic hospital. Investigations conducted following the mishap revealed that a rear tire was deflated forming basis for the theory that it had either blown out or was punctured while the car was in motion, causing the machine to skid and leave the highway.

PLANE CRASHES; THREE KILLED

Two Young Men, Girl, Die
As Ship Fails To Take To Air

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17.—A father and mother, eagerly waiting their turn to fly with their boy, yesterday saw his plane swoop crazily, clip the top of a tree and crash to earth in flames. The boy died today of his injuries. His brother's broken body was found in the wreckage and the brother's sweetheart died before rescuers could reach her.

Casper McCune, 24, a pilot for just three weeks, shot his plane into the air at an angle to the wind above the Greensburg airport. He failed to gain altitude and plunged.

In the twisted burned machine rescuers found the body of the pilot's brother, Edward McCune, 26. Horrified spectators heard the girl scream as the plane crashed, but she was dead when they reached her.

Lindy To Revamp His Plane; Will Install Larger Motor

Speed Of Flying Colonel's Ship To Be Increased
To 225 Miles An Hour; New Wing, Landing Gear Sought

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Carl Squier, general manager of the Lockheed Aircraft company here, revealed today Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh would come to Los Angeles soon to have his low-wing monoplane fitted with a new type of wing, a larger motor and a disappearing landing gear.

Will Increase Speed

The improvement, Squier said, will increase the speed of Colonel Lindbergh's plane approximately 50 miles an hour, making its top speed 225 miles an hour.

Squier said he spoke to Colonel Lindbergh by telephone at Princeton, N. J., and that the flier said he would arrive within three weeks. Dispatches from the east recently stated Colonel Lindbergh was planning a South American flight. Secret development and successful testing of the new wing—constructed on Colonel Lindbergh's orders—have been completed after nine months work. No description of the wing was given out, excepting that it will permit the landing wheels to be folded into the wing.

A 605 horsepower motor will replace the present 425 horsepower engine, it was understood.

Not Seeking Record

Squier said Colonel Lindbergh told him "our desire to increase the speed of our airplane does not mean that we are going out after any transcontinental or any other long distance speed records."

"Any device that can speed up air transportation should be developed and it is with this object that we wish to equip our plane with the most efficient discoveries."

SPEAKERSHIP JOB IN PERIL IN NEXT HOUSE

Balance Between Parties Close; Insurgents To Be Factor

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Regardless of whether the Republicans or Democrats gain initial control of the next house of representatives, the speakership will be in constant peril.

Although it has never been done, the speaker may be removed at any time by a majority of the members and a successor elected. In view of the close balance between the parties in the house, at the seventy-second congress—now standing at 218 Republicans and 216 Democrats, with one Farmer-Labor leader on both sides, are giving close study to the possibilities.

Insurgents Are Factors

Insurgent groups will be potential determining factors in the seating or unseating of the speaker as long as the membership remains so closely divided. Both Speaker Longworth and his Democratic rival—Rep. Garner, of Texas, might occupy the post of speaker at different times. Then there is a possibility that neither may serve, but that some other member may be brought to the limelight of the gavel.

However, Longworth and Garner quite possibly have an opportunity to resort to the tactics used by their respective parties in 1910, when an insurgent group led by Norris of Nebraska, now senator, began the so-called revolution against what they termed "Cannonism." It was then the late Uncle Joe Cannon, serving as speaker for the fourth term, gave the actual majority, consisting of Democrats and Insurgents from the northwestern states, an opportunity to oust him.

Norris Moves Ousting

On Norris' resolution to have the speaker removed from the powerful rules committee, a better three-day contest waged. Speaker Cannon sustained a motion by Dazell, of Pennsylvania, the Republican leader, that the Norris resolution was not privileged. Norris appealed the chair's decision to the house was sustained and his resolution was adopted 191 to 156.

The speaker, Cannon, said, "has always said that, under the constitution, it is a question of the highest privilege for an actual majority of the house at any time to choose a new speaker. The chair is now ready to entertain such a motion."

Albert Sidney Burleson, later postmaster general under President Wilson, then a member from Texas, offered a resolution to declare the office of speaker vacant, and to order the election of a successor to Cannon.

Most of the Insurgents, however, reversed their previous position and the resolution failed of adoption, 192 to 155.

TO-DAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

RADIO PROGRAMS

Nobody knows how many listen to the hundreds of plays put on the air every week in this country, but there must be thousands. The directors of stations have been trying to find out the approximate number because they believe that the popular demand for radio drama is growing. They have offered free souvenirs to listeners, and have sometimes had as many as 50,000 requests. Yet that cannot be an accurate measure of the radio-drama audience. For some time advertisers buying time on the air have been expressing a preference for "skits" or "plays." Dance music, broken up by the necessary direct advertising, held first position for a long time, but there is now a tendency away from the straight musical program.

Further confirmation of the leaning to drama may be found in the announcement of the National Broadcasting company. It will present a series of 26 "outstanding plays of all time" once a week on a coast-to-coast network. This is not a commercial venture, but a continuation of the educational program begun two years ago with concerts under the direction of Walter Damrosch. It presupposes the growth of interest in radio drama in which all station directors now believe. Just as the musical program was put into schools, the play program will be urged for an extra-curricular course in dramatic literature. For school and college classes attempting the presentation of a few of these plays, the example of good actors will be helpful, while it will be still more valuable to students whose acquaintance with them is limited to the book.

The new plan must be based on the success of the Radio guild, which has for some time been giving an adaptation of some well-known play once a week for the National Broadcasting company. Mr. Vernon Radcliffe, who made those adaptations and directed the players, will continue the same office for the educational project. He will work with the same group of actors, with various stars in addition to play parts they have done on the stage. Miss Margaret Anglin will start the series with "Iphigenia in Aulis." The musical accompaniment written by Walter Damrosch for her production of it in the Greek theater at the University of California will be used. Although the classics make up a large part of the program, there will be a sprinkling of less imposing titles.

According to Peter Dixon who is familiar with the broadcasting of plays, more than 70 dramatic programs are put on the air by this city's stations each week. Fewer than a tenth of these are adaptations of plays written for the stage. All the others are written especially for the radio. Writers, whether they have known this or not, have been considering the radio as a potential market. At present few dramatic sketches are submitted to stations. Sam Magill in the November Writer's Monthly, describes the situation as he sees it from his position as announcer. He thinks the free-lance writer has a better chance now that he will have later on. But already some of the big advertising agencies employ a large staff to handle radio publicity for their clients. One has 29 writers to produce radio copy only. Mr. Dixon discourages would-be radio dramatists from asking the present ones how they do it. Most of them are too busy turning out a play a week to be bothered with questions. — New York Times.

MARKET OPENS WITH DECLINE

Selling Reflects Extensive Profit-Taking After Rally

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The stock market started the new week with a decline today. The selling, which was general during the earlier hours, reflected extensive profit taking after the five-day rally. Trading was quiet.

Partial recovery was made from an early decline of 1 to 3 points, but the improvement was later lost when further stock came but American Telephone, Westinghouse and North American dropped 3 points, and there were recessions of 2 or more in U. S. Steel, American Can, Woodworth, Du Pont, Atchafalpa, Anaconda, American Smelting and Consolidated Gas. Allied Chemical lost 5 points and national leader yielded a substantial part of last Saturday's advance.

the country than any prize fighting.

Fred Stanek's championship will soon be a thing of the past, thanks to machinery that makes men unnecessary. This writer who has paid eight cents a bushel on the cob for husking his corn crop this year is offered a machine that will cut the corn, stack it, husk it and shell it for two and one half cents a bushel. Good news for farm owners, bad news temporarily for farm labor.

The Reverend Dr. Fulton J. Sheen, of the Catholic university at Washington, D. C., objecting to Professor Einstein's ideas on religion, finds an argument that will convince many for whom learned refutation would have little meaning.

Father Sheen says Einstein's "cosmical theory would be all right if Einstein would leave out the "S" in "cosmical."

Father Sheen objects especially to Einstein's statement that we "have passed the stage of a religion of fear and morals."

In private, Professor Einstein might ask the Reverend Father, "do you really believe that God created the earth, only 6,000 years ago, first creating light, then making the sun, moon and stars, as told in Genesis. And why was it necessary to make the sun, if light had already been supplied?"

Officially Professor Einstein will say nothing, knowing that a religious controversy is never profitable.

Desmond Holdridge, a young explorer, has visited a remote Venezuelan jungle and brings news of the Pishauko-tribe hitherto considered "a mythical people."

He found savages celebrating mass, praying for divine assistance before starting on a hunting expedition, which proves that missionaries had visited them long ago.

"When one of these savages is ill, perhaps with malarial fever, the medicine man stretches him out naked and covers his body with live ants."

Ten years ago we should have called that barbarous ignorance, but now our scientists use the bites of mosquitoes to cure paresis.

Salem High Cross Country Quintet Wins State Championship

THE DAY In Sports

PLENTY OF BASKETBALL.
SALEM TEAMS RATE HIGH

This is just another year of great accomplishments for Salem High athletic teams. Already noted throughout the state for its strong basketball, football and track teams, the Red and Black advanced into the Ohio sport spotlight with another dazzling flourish Saturday as Coach R. B. Clark's quintet of runners carried off first place in the state interscholastic cross country meet at Columbus, decisively defeating such outstanding schools as Dayton Roosevelt, Toledo Scott, Cleveland Lakewood, Columbus East and Central and many others.

Wilfred Brantingham's achievement in crashing the former state interscholastic record into oblivion was not unexpected. It was certain that either he or Harold Walker, mile-runner of distinction, was to deliver for the Quaker City and Brantingham flashed to victory in faster time by seven seconds than any previous state cross country meet had been won. Walker finished fifth, behind Shasteen, who is accredited with fourth place in point standings.

The defeat sustained by Coach Floyd W. Stone's grid team in its invasion of Canton last September is still a blot on the eleven's grid-iron record but nine straight victories have been won to atone for that lone setback. A victory over Alliance Thanksgiving Day will climax the fall program in spectacular fashion. None can say that Salem doesn't hold its own in all sports.

Salem teams and the schools they represent, are rated high throughout Ohio. Fans here back them as few scholastic teams are back anywhere in the country. One out of every ten high schools has four major sports—for cross country has been developed into such here—and not every high school even those in larger cities, have three teams so consistently strong in each branch of sport as the Red and Black.

There will be plenty of basketball played in Salem this year. Salem High has many of its games away but this will only serve to add to the interest of contests played at home. That was one reason for fans not supporting the scholastic games last season—almost every week found the Stonemen playing at home twice and fans there easily. Then, too, they visit the Memorial building to witness city league games, like to travel to Mount Union occasionally and go to Canton to watch the pro league teams in action.

Prospects for both girls and boys scholastic teams here are bright. The municipal leagues will again be a success and the Salem Business college and Salem Saxons will also have strong teams. Franklin F. Wells, head of the Business college here, announced that he will have a boys' and girls' team in action today while the Saxons are planning to start competition in the Penn-Ohio German league early next month.

City leagues are scheduled to get under way later in December.

Jack "Red" Ballantine, who has been ill is recovering. He will be out again in a week and will probably be a spectator at the Salem-Alliance grid classic. Admission at that game, according to present plans, will be 50 and 75 cents. Salem gridders have no game this week and will take things easy. R. B. Clark is busy receiving congratulations from fans on his barrier victory Saturday. Ray Berger has taken over management of Liberty park.

E. Liverpool Loses To Martins Ferry

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 17.—Martins Ferry High crushed East Liverpool High, 29 to 0, here Saturday for its eighth consecutive victory over the Potters since 1922.

Three thousand fans, including 1,000 from the down-river city, watched the Perrians play straight football to defeat the Potters. The visitors made seventeen first downs to East Liverpool's seven.

Dorsey scored three of the Perrians' touchdowns, all on line plunges, while a 66-yard run by Goscick, who circled left end and ran through the entire Potter team, netted the other counter.

try performance ever seen in Ohio interscholastic competition. He finished ahead of Welsh of Cleveland Shaw, who was second, while Powell High's star distance runner, Roy Hall, was third. Joe Macklin of Columbus East was fourth.

Harold Horstman of Salem pulled a surprise, beating Harold Walker, Salem's mile runner of note, to the finish line. Horstman and Walker finished fifth and sixth, respectively, but were accredited with fourth and fifth place points.

Irwin Beck Places
Irwin Beck, twin brother of Ed Beck, who the night previous led Salem's powerful grid team to a 45-0 victory over Lisbon, placed 16th and was given credit for 12th place in points standings while Shasteen, Salem, followed him to the finish line and was awarded credit for 13th place.

The Salem racers were awarded point standings for places ahead of their finish rank because of the individual entry of runners who did

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Alliance Gridders Upset Dope With 7-3 Victory Over Canton

Alliance High's giant grid aggregation furnished the outstanding dope upset of the 1930 football season in Northeastern Ohio circles, defeating the touted Canton McKinley eleven, 7-3, with a last-minute aerial attack at Canton Saturday.

The game definitely asserted the strength of Coach George Wilcoxen's powerful team as a rival to be feared by Salem High when the two teams clash in their thirtieth annual conflict Thanksgiving Day. McKinley trounced Salem, 26-9, early in the season.

Windland Stars
Bill Windland, Alliance battering-ram fullback, was the hero in his team's victory over the rival Stark county combine. Windland was the chief offensive threat of the victors and smashed through the McKinley line for continual large gains.

Alliance scored in the last four minutes of play after Canton had scored with a placement goal by Player. A barrage of passes three times brought the Wilcoxen-coached team within scoring distance.

On the third occasion a pass, Quick to Windland brought the ball to the yard-line from where Windland scored.

YOU soon tire of a restaurant that has only seven bills of fare—one for each day of the week, and then back to the beginning again.

The two things that make a restaurant good are good food and lots of variety. Good food includes good cooking, and variety includes exploring the provision markets for the countless things that can be served, in season or out.

The pleasure of eating at any of the restaurants at Hotel Winton is increased by the wide variety of choice—a menu that is easy to read—a list of fixed price breakfasts, luncheons and dinners—a number of specials for which the house is famous, and—always—good foods properly prepared.

Many of the best things are not on Main Street. Quiet, for example.

MOVIES

"LADIES OF LEISURE"

At The State

"Ladies of Leisure," a film starring Barbara Stanwyck and Ralph Graves, comes to the State tonight.

The story concerns a "party girl" who meets an artist, falls for him despite herself, wins his love only to be dissuaded from the match by the boy's family, her attempted return to the old life, the realization of her mistake and her efforts to commit suicide, topped off by the inevitable climax at the close.

Miss Stanwyck, as the feminine lead, does a creditable piece of work. Ralph Graves comes through with another natural performance that does him credit. The movement flows along with no straining for effects.

"BILLY THE KID"

At The Grand

Although fifty years have passed, Billy the Kid, born in New York, twenty-one years old when he died, is still remembered where "cow people" get together, as the most dangerous man the west ever knew.

"Billy the Kid" lives again tonight at the Grand theatre in the person of John Mack Brown, leading character of a talkie by that name, Brown scores as Billy in a sympathetic and convincing characterization, while Wallace Beery gives his usual outstanding performance as the one-track-minded peace officer who loves "The Kid" but is forced by his duty to capture him.

The high spot of the picture was the high spot of William Bonney's life, namely the three-day siege of the McSweeney home in Lincoln, New Mexico, by members of an opposing cattle faction. Vidor creates some gorgeous pictures of night fighting here, the greatest, of course, being the dramatic dash of the beleaguered men from a burning house. Brown reaches great heights here with his weaving run, with a score of rifles popping at him.

A love interest has been introduced in the person of Kay Johnson, who reaches high points of drama at several places, perhaps her greatest being the scene of Billy's last rendezvous with her. Karl Dane as a cowboy turns in riotous comic relief.

Makes Safe Landing After Fast Trip

An airplane is used by R. O. Watson, Salem grocery store manager, as a means of quick travel in his business.

Owning his own cabin plane, Watson flew to Detroit in one hour and 45 minutes Saturday, then returned in one hour and five minutes Sunday.

He landed at Alliance at 6:05 p. m. yesterday, being forced to make a "dead stick" landing when he was compelled to shut his motor off. The throttle mechanism stuck on the home-ward trip, Watson says, and, as a result, he was compelled to fly at top speed all the way. Unable to decrease the plane's speed, in order to land, he cut the motor off, but reached ground safely in the gathering darkness.
